CUSTOMS REGULATIONS

Used household goods may be imported into Germany duty-free, provided they have been in owner's possession for at least one year abroad and are for continued use *) by the owner.

(If the shipper has not lived outside of the EC for at least one year, then there is still the possibility to import the HHGs without paying duty or taxes, provided the employer will issue a written confirmation stating it was intended for the employee to remain abroad for at least one year, but that due to an internal company change it became necessary to repatriate the employeesooner).

*) From a customs standpoint, the shipper is not allowed to sell, loan out, or give away any of his imported HHGs for a period of at least one year. If it should come to German customs attention that this has been done, the shipper will be charged duty and import tax.

If the owner cannot import the household goods immediately at the time of taking up residence, a proof must be furnished as to the reasons of the delay, but goods must be imported within 1 year.

DOCUMENTS REQUIRED FOR CUSTOMS CLEARANCE:

- Household goods inventory.
- registration with local city hall ("Anmeldebestätigung" vom Einwohnermeldeamt)
- Original passport or a certified copy may be requested by customs, but as a rule photocopies are sufficient. A definite exception is port Hamburg, where one can expect customs to require the original passport.
- Attestation of employer stating employment in Germany, or if an EC citizen, then an attestation of employer stating that the shipper resided outside of the EC for at least 1 year. Exception - see "Customs Regulations" above!
- Foreign diplomats: certificate issued by their embassy or consulate. Goods will then be cleared without inspection.

Inherited goods

In addition to the documents specified above, a copy of the last will is required.

Motor vehicles

In addition to the documents above, proof of ownership (Certificate of Title, Certificate of Registration) is required. Vehicle must have been used by shipper and registered outside the European Union at least 6 months.

The foreign Certificate of Registration must still be valid one day before arrival of the shipment at the latest! On the other hand the Certificate of Registration must not be older than 2 weeks once shipment arrives at port of entry. If these requirements aren't met, motor vehicle tax has to be paid in advance for 1 year.

Diplomatic Goods

Diplomatic Household goods require only the original form 0349, stamped and consigned from the consulate, copy of diplomatic passport and the inventory. If diplomatic forms are unavailable, we'll need the normal paperwork for customs clearance (see above).

Pets

All pets must have a valid health certificate issued no more than 10 days before entry and must have had a rabies vaccination no more than one year before entry. Please ask us for details.

PROHIBITED AND RESTRICTED GOODS

No particular restrictions for normal consumer goods and foodstuffs. Alcohol, tobacco products, perfumes and coffee are dutiable. Live animals and animal products protected by CITES (Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna) may not be imported.

Medications and medicines, prescription or otherwise, are subject to customs inspection and must be shown to an expert for confirmation that it is legal to be imported into Germany. Inclusion of medicines or medications in the HHGs shipments can cause a customs examination, and it is therefore suggested that the shippers do not include any in their HHGs shipments.

Firearms must be entered on the inventory as last items, indicating the model, calibre and serialnumber, and must be loaded close to the door of container, liftvan or truck. Firearms must be registered with the German authorities before a release will be granted by customs.
